Student Support Services Director:	John Shanahan
Target :	Children with mild to intensive needs
Curriculum / Approach :	An authentic inclusion model is provided: all students are included as much as possible with their neurotypical peers as we recognize that there are mutual benefits for both neurodiverse and neurotypical children learning from, and with, one another.
Therapy services	Full time employed Speech and Language Therapist and Occupational Therapist who work collaboratively with teachers. The therapists provide therapy in one to one, small group and in-class settings.
Levels of support:	Mild, moderate, and intensive
Classes and Services :	Our students are integrated into mainstream classrooms with the appropriate level of support. When appropriate, children also receive small group or 1:1 instruction to develop specific skills. We recognize that children have different pathways to individual excellence and in the Secondary School provide a modified program for children with intensive developmental challenges. These students access typical classes where appropriate, and for core subjects such as English and Mathematics learn through the ASDAN curriculum framework. Older students can enrol in our Vocational program that prepares students for life after HKA through life skills and vocational training.
Capacity	We aim to have no more than 15% of the student body accessing Learner Support
Staffing :	We strongly believe in all teachers for all learners, so all teachers work with students who access Learner Support. Through both PS and SS divisions we have nine learner support teachers and sixteen learner support co-teachers.
Monthly School Fees :	Fees range from mild to intensive depending on level of need, areas requiring support and program individualization. Speech and OT are an additional cost.
